Gentlemen:

Last week a terrible thing happened to our notebook computer. We did not expect this situation to arise amidst our Saturday Seminars. We have spent a lot of time creating PowerPoint and Word presentations on our Toshiba Satellite notebook computer. As I began to power it on it would not boot to the C: drive. Out of sheer frustration I tried to format the hard drive and even did a DOS FDISK command to no avail. It was time to call in the experts. I looked at the ComputerEdge magazine and found a company called Advanced Data Solutions in National City. I remembered their company because they used to put out a sign by the fitness club regarding hard disk recovery.

I spoke to Klon at first and he carefully entered detailed information about my situation into their computer. I told myself I would give them a try since the data contained in my hard drive was very critical for our ministerial operations. It could be replaced but would cost a lot of time, effort and money that our ministry cannot afford.

A few days later I received a call from Jose Cruz letting me know that they could indeed recover the data on my hard drive. Our prayers were answered just in time to use the computer for our seminar tomorrow. Although I do not understand how ADS was able to recover my data, I am amazed at the accomplishment ADS has done for us.

Being a non-profit organization we also found their rates very reasonable and affordable. I highly recommend ADS to any organization that has experienced the same or worse hard drive crash experience. It would seem that their company has the ability to retrieve almost anything concerning storage media.

God bless your organization,

Ralph I. Posadas
