Mr. Cruise,

Thank you for helping me with a recent computer crisis. As you know, my hard drive completely shut down and no other company was able to access any of the information on it. You and your company were understanding of my situation and immediately presented me with many options.

I was amazed that when, at first, it looked as if there was no way that my data could be retrieved, your company continued to come up with more tricks in which to bring my crisis to an end. After numerous attempts, various procedures and the incredible will to not give up, you called me Joe and gave me the good news.

Please know that I will always appreciate your determination and assistance with this matter. I would gladly recommend your company and consultation to any business that truly cares about their computer information. Thank god you were there.

Again, thank you for all of your help.

Sincerely,

David Weiss
