

To Manuel Fonseca and colleagues at Advanced Data Solutions:

Sincere thanks for the recovery of our research data from a defective Iomega Jaz disk. We were quite disappointed when, despite backing-up to CD-ROM on a weekly basis, several days worth of data-analysis seemingly just vanished. Biomedical research is difficult enough without these sorts of obstacles. With absolutely no way to access the disk from DOS or Windows, ADS very quickly recovered needed the data.

Special thanks also to Manuel Fonseca for perhaps bending the rules a bit regarding payment arrangements. Medical research is, by and large, conducted on a shoestring budget; we simply could not afford this sort of service elsewhere.

Sincerely,

Robert Stuart, MD
